Easton

Lake Easton, nestled in Washington State's Cascade Mountain foothills, is a picture perfect destination for people who love to fish, boat, camp and play in a lovely natural state park setting. A lush forest cradles the lake and frames the 516-acre all-season park in lush green. There's plenty of access to the shores of Lake Easton for water enthusiasts—24,000 feet in all. There are trails galore for hikers as well as cross country skiing and snowmobiling in the winter. If that's not enough, seven other Sno-Park areas are within a 15-minute drive!
